Where is Polokwane?

Polokwane, capital of Limpopo, is located in the Capricorn region of the province. The city was founded in the gold rush of the 1880's and was originally named Pietersburg after a well known General Petrus (Piet) Jacobus Joubert. In June the 11th 2003, the city was renamed Polokwane, a northern Sotho word which means "Place of Safety".

This young city is the largest in Northern South Africa and is a bustling and vibrant metropolis. It's a beautiful city surrounded by tree-lined suburbs, fascinating townships, rural villages and world class facilities.

Climate

Polokwane offers an extremely pleasant climate for most of the year. With almost all-year round sunshine. It can get rather hot in the summer months (October to March) average 28 C

People of Polokwane

Polokwane has a population of almost 812 102. Over 95% of the residents are black and mostly belong to the Pedi, Tsonga – Shangaan, Venda and Ndebele groups. 5% of the population are white, mostly Afrikaners. Polokwane also has 2% English speaking White, Coloured and Indian communities.

Language

Polokwane truly has a linguistic heritage worth bragging about. Out of the Eleven South African official languages, Six are spoken here which are Sepedi/Northern Sotho, XiTsonga, TshiVenda, IsiNdebele, English and Afrikaans.

The city recognises English, Sepedi and Afrikaans as the official languages because of their historical dominance, however, XiTsonga and TshiVenda are increasingly spoken as more users of these languages settle in and around the city.

Making the most of your visit

Polokwane offers easy access to other exciting attractions.

Polokwane Game Reserve, Polokwane Art Museum and the Heritage sites are also a must see experience

Polokwane visitor's Information Centre provides a one-stop information service to tourists requiring information on accommodation, tours, vehicle hire, adventure, shopping and business reservations.

Major tourist attraction – Polokwane

The reserve was established in 1962 originally as a recreation facility for the residents of the Polokwane area. It was later realized that a significant portion of the reserve included a unique and very threatened vegetation type known as the Pietersburg Plateau False Grassland. As a result, the area was given conservation status and with the acquisition of additional land, was proclaimed as a municipal nature reserve and officially opened in 1971.

Today the reserve conserves one of the largest unspoiled/perfect examples of this habitat, along with its associated plant and animal species.

The surface area of the reserve is approximately 3200 hectares, making it one of the largest municipal nature reserves in the country. The Polokwane region, in which the reserve is situated, lies on an elevated plateau with an altitude ranging between 1200 to 1500 meters above sea level.

The climate is moderate with a mean summer daytime high of 28 C and mean winter night time of 5 C. The average annual rainfall for the area is 478mm.

Polokwane Bird Sanctuary

The 43 hectares Polokwane Bird Sanctuary is situated just North of the City. The sanctuary boasts a list of over 320 species recorded over a period of 10 years and includes three dams of varying depths, reed beds, shallow pans, a sandbank, riverine bush and some grassland.

The Sanctuary started as a series of saturation ponds for the nearby water purification plant. It soon developed into a major attraction for both birds and bird watches alike.

In order to preserve the unique blend of habits and a great variety of associated bird species it was accorded conservation status in 1991

They attract many seasonal waterfowl and migrant waders and hosts resident species for both the dry western and more tropical north-eastern parts of South Africa. Several interesting mammals occur in the sanctuary including Cape Clawless otter, Water Mongoose, Dwarf Mongoose, Cane Rat, Thick-tailed Bushbaby, Bushpig and Bushbuck. Reptiles and frogs are also well represented by species such as African Rock Python, Nile Monitor Lizard and Giant Bullfrog.

The facilities include a good network of paths, bird viewing hides, picnic sites, braai lapas and walking trails for day visitors.

Polokwane Art Museum

The Polokwane Art Museum had its humble beginnings in town council decisions, inspired by Mr Jack Botes back in 1972, to start an art collection. This art museum houses a collection of 800 art works by renowned artists and centres around the province.

The museum showcases a variety of traditional Venda, Tsonga and Pedi craft. It also tells us something about ourselves, our cultural development, achievements, ideas, skills in the past, present and probably predicts the future.

Bakone Malapa – Northern Sotho Open-Air Museum

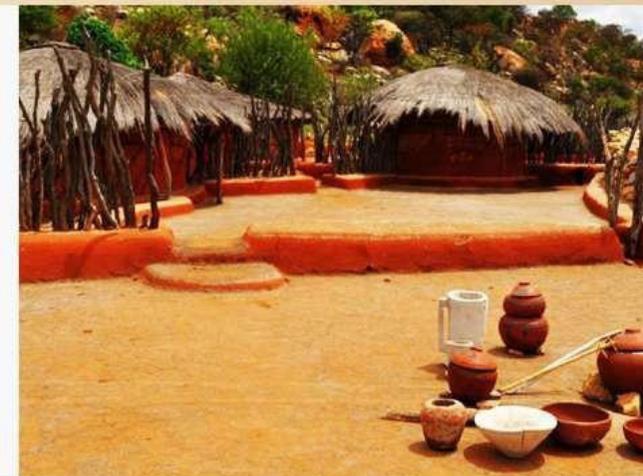

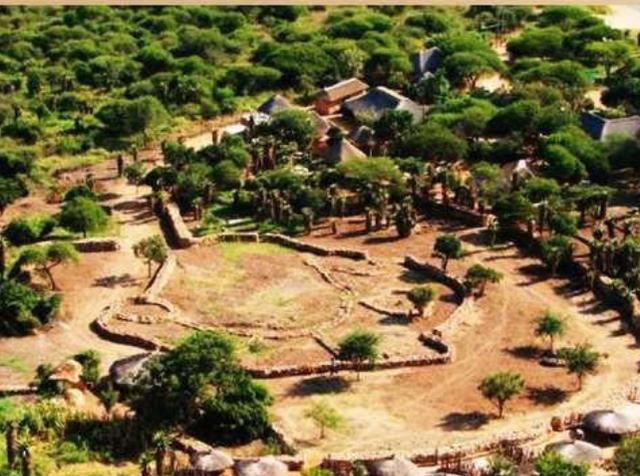

Regarded as a living museum, the Bakone Malapa Museum near the city is one of several museums and national monuments that bear testimony to South Africa's people. The Bakone Malapa, where tribesmen practice long-standing traditions to enlighten visitors about the traditions of Africa's people, is one of two similar museums in Limpopo – the other is Tsonga open-air museum in Tzaneen.

Bakone Malapa is a reconstructed village in style used by the Northern Sotho about 250 years ago, designed to demonstrate the daily life of Bakone, a highly sophisticated subgroup of the Northern Sotho tribe. The museum is more than a cultural village alone, There is a braai facility, conference hall, hiking trails and outdoor recreation areas.

The Irish House

The Irish House was built in 1886 by a German, August Julius Herman Moschke and it was originally used as a general dealer. In 1906 the building was destroyed by fire. This also destroyed the buildings that were on Market Street.

A victorious building was prefabricated and moved to the city by German immigrant Moschke who was then interned during the world war one. On his arriving to Polokwane he discovered his shop was in a bankrupt state.

He then sold it to an Irish man James Albert Jones who extended it to a fashion house under the name Irish House, where he was selling imported clothes and shoes.

The Irish House remained a business building until 1986 when it was converted into Polokwane Museum to display the diverse cultural heritage of the city by city council of Polokwane.

The cemetery houses the graves of the victims of a nearby Anglo-boer war concentration camp.

Kobalt Str. Nirvana

Roman Catholic Church

The Roman Catholic Church in the heart of the city was built in 1934 although it is a relatively contemporary building, it is considered one of the city's finest pieces of architecture. Still the home of the large catholic congregation in Polokwane.

54 Biccard Str.

Civic Centre (Next to VIC)

The elegant gazebo in the Civic Square was built in 1924. The building was once the home of coach magnate, Doel Zeederberg who established the first passenger stage coach service between Pietersburg (now Polokwane) & Bulawayo (Zimbabwe) in 1894. It's a reminder of an era of progress and the route was significant in attracting people to the region.

Cnr. Church & Bodenstein Str.

Polokwane Golf Club

The Polokwane Golf Club is older than the city itself; founded in 1863. It is rated one of the best in South Africa. Over the years, the golf course and its clubhouse have evolved it into an iconic sporting attraction with 700 members. It is a hive activity. US Open Champion, Retief Goosen learned to play here, and Springbok golfers Ray Earle and Callie Swart both hail from the club.

HUNTING

Polokwane is at the centre of the hunting industry in Limpopo. There are both provincial and private hunting farms and lodges. Provincial hunting farms allow potential hunters to tender for certain quota of animals and for a fee depending on the size of the catch, allow the seasonal hunting of animals that would otherwise be culled for population control. A set of laws clearly states the prerequisites to hunting such as permit and the monitoring of animal species and numbers.
